

AIIMS Raipur students won best poster award in a poster competition on ‘Antimicrobial resistance’ at the International conference on AMR by WHO

A poster competition was organized for undergraduate (MBBS) students as a part of an international conference on "Combating antimicrobial resistance, public health challenge and priority" by WHO in collaboration with MOHFW at New Delhi from 23-25 Feb 2016.

Two best posters from each medical college of India were invited for the competition. With this reference an internal poster competition was organized by Academic section and Department of Microbiology of AIIMS, Raipur.

Posters made by Mr. Rohit Yadav (II MBBS – 2014 batch) and Ms. PRR Vaishnavi with Mr. Arjun Parihar (III MBBS – 2013 Batch) were chosen to represent AIIMS Raipur for the competition.

Both the posters secured among top three posters in the competition. The students were felicitated for their brilliant work by Honourable Dr.Mohamed Habeeb (Minister of State for Health, Republic of Maldives).

AIIMS Raipur takes pride in congratulating all the students for their creative and talented work and wishes them all the best for future endeavors.
